FIREMEN'S CELEBRATION -- We gave yester day morning the names of the Companies then in town, with their Foreman, number of men, &c. Yesterday morning, the early trains brought in the "Contest" from Painesville, the "Rescue" from Fremont, the "Wolverines" from Detroit, the "Washingtons" from Delaware, the "Phonix" from Elyria, the "Empire" Hook and Ladder Co. from Oberlin, and the "Champions" from Norwalk. These swelled largely the list of the "gallant firemen" in the city, and added to the excitement of the previous evening. At an early hour the Companies began to march to the point of forming the promarch.

In appearance the Companies were hard to seat-the procession being filled with brilliant and shining carriages, nest uniforms and tasty banners The Hose Carriage of the Neptunes of Springfield, which we spoke of yesterday, was highly admired, the representation of the old God of the sea being so perfect, and the whole equipment so appropriate to its name.

The Hose Carriage of the Deluge Co. from Dayton was the object of a great deal of attention, it being highly decorated with boqueta, banners, &c , and containing, to complete the banners, &c , and containing, to complete the Strong, and specches were made by Rev. While Saratogs No. 3, of Cleveland, were playing their hose burst, and the "watery element" distributed itself in copious quantities over the bystanders, among whom there was a general and indiscriminate "scatter." Some of the wet ones looked rather disappointed at the operation.

The Citizen's Gift, of Findley, was ahead in the contest until the trial by the last engine, Live Oak No. 1, of Cleveland; who were greet ed in their performance by cheering on the part of some noisy urchins near the end of their stream which was interpreted as a paen of victory by the friends of Live Oak, who caught up the shout and repeated it lustily. But the Clevelanders had "counted their chickens before they were hatched,"and the measurement of the stream showed that Findlay was still ahead several feet! Then did the Findlay Boys shrick with mad delight-they shouted, threw their S. HYMAN & CO'S kissed each other, and manifested their joy in numberiess ways. The Line Oak boys took ? ishment at the denouement of the affair had somewhat subsided, congratulated their country friends on their victory. We are sure no Ann Eliza Strocks. Company on the ground presented a better apcearance or were more general favorites than the Findlay Boys. Mr. Cara Raskors, while standing in the street yesterday se-ing the sights, was considerably astonished at feeling some one's hand in his pant's pocket. Mr. R. caught hold of the fellow's arm, when he received a blow in the mouth which made him reel; but before the villian could escape he was arrested by a policeman and conveyed to the county jail, where he will probably luxuriate for some time. We did not learn his name. Taking the day as a whole, we think all may look back with pleasure to it, as one highly creditable to the Firemen of the State. The gathering was larger than the one last year at Dayton, and we may consider a yearly State parade as a fixed institution. May each one prove larger and more enthusiastic than preeeding ones, and may our gallant " life preservers" be ever ready to meet in friendly contest for the supremacy. The next yearly meeting will probably be held at Zanesville.
